The status of the claims is as follows:

Claim 5 has been cancelled; and Claims 1-4 and 6 (newly added) are herein addressed below.

The applicant's proposed drawings dated 4/7/2008 have been approved by the Examiner.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lisak et al. (4,956,942). As shown in detail below, by Lisak et al. (4,956,942) disclose an adjusting comprising a profiled base element (25) positionable on a lower section of a vehicle door (10) and provided with a first elongate hole and second elongate hole (see figure below), a slider (46) slidably moveable within the profiled base element (25) and provided with a hole, a screw (52) having a head portion (see figure below) for the first end and a slot/hole (the threads of the screw itself provides a "slot") in the second end, and a threaded bolt (54) extending within the holes.

Claims 2-4 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The applicant's arguments have been considered but are not deemed persuasive. It appears that the applicant's arguments are more limiting than that of the claims. The applicant argues that the claims recite "a bolt fixedly attachable to the window regulator". As clearly recite in the applicant's claims, merely "a device" is recited with the window regulator not positively recited in the preamble. Therefore, since the applicant is NOT claiming the combination, the structure of Lisak et al. merely needs to be "capable" of performing the function. Therefore, it appears that the applicant is relying on language that is not positively recited. Furthermore, the applicant argues a first position/second position of a screw and its ends. Since the applicant has failed to provide necessary/detailed structure of the screw in its two positions and BROADLY reciting a screw merely in two "positions", Lisak et al. still reads on the claims of record. With respect to claim 2, the Examiner agrees that these limitations are NOT shown by Lisak et al.

With respect to claim 6, either the applicant failed to include ALL of the limitations of objected to claim 3 (including the limitations of claim 2) or hoping that the Examiner would not recognize that claim 3 was dependent upon claim 2, and since the applicant has clearly stated "claim 6 includes all of the limitation of claim 1 and allowable claim 3". Regardless of the applicant's position or intent, claim 6 and the screw having a slot is addressed in detail above

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
